THE NEW CONTRIBUTIONS OF THE THESIS

The thesis is the first work to comprehensively study the authority of the National Assembly of Vietnam in terms of theory, regulation and practice. The thesis's new contributions in the field of legal science include the following:

Firstly, the thesis has clarified many points about the theoretical basis of the authority of the National Assembly of Vietnam. The thesis also introduces a new concept of the authority of the National Assembly of Vietnam and its characteristics.

Secondly, the thesis has systematically identified the factors affecting the authority of the National Assembly of Vietnam.

Thirdly, the thesis has objectively and scientifically assessed the limitations and inadequacies in the legal regulations on the "authority" of the National Assembly of Vietnam and exercising the authority of the National Assembly of Vietnam. The thesis has also clearly identified the causes of limitations in the regulations and the exercise of the authority of the National Assembly.

Fourthly, the thesis has identified ways to perfect the authority of the National Assembly of Vietnam. Based on scientific arguments, with the selective acquisition of experiences on state organizations in the world and considering the actual political, economic and social conditions in Vietnam, the thesis has proposed scientific, concrete and feasible solutions to improve the legal provisions on the authority of the National Assembly and improve the effectiveness of the implementation of the authority of the National Assembly of Vietnam, to meet the requirements on building a socialist rule of law state of Vietnam as stipulated in the 2013 Constitution.
